1847 - Fr. Ambrose Manahan of the cathedral staff rented a small hall over a store at Garden and Phillips Street in the West End to teach Christian doctrine.

1849 - Fr. Manahan rented a hayloft owned by Charles Parkman on Bridge Street (now North Anderson Street) to accommodate 300 children for religious instruction.