1851 - First Public Mass in the West End said at hayloft on Bridge Street.

“It was crude in the extreme, and was only a hayloft at best, which was entered by means of a flight of stairs on the outside of the building. There were large cracks in the floor, through which the horses could be seen in their stalls below, their kicking and neighing could be plainly heard, and readily called to mind the stable in Bethlehem.”

1852 - Rev. John J. Williams joins the Church.

1854 - Rev. Hillary Tucker joins the Church. The Congregation moved to the first floor of the “Old Organ Factory” at North Grove and Cambridge Street. First floor of factory is converted into the Chapel of The Guardian Angel.
