1831 – Boston Hemp Manufacturing Company occupies Mill Dam site.

By 1852, the McIntyre map of Boston shows how the Back Bay residences were marching steadily toward the fens and the Mill Dam, from which the Boston Hemp Manufacturing Company was constructed. Not long after the publication of this map, the ropewalk disappeared giving way to the extension of Commonwealth Avenue, Boylston and Marlborough Streets.