The Bromley Atlas of Boston 1890 shows the extent of the Sewall and Day complex. The ropewalk site is now occupied by Wentworth Institute of Technology. Other property owned by the cordage company became the site of the Museum of Fine Arts.